SCHRADER YACHT SALES AND KARL KOCH PRESENT SEAMANSHIP COURSES YOU CAN USE

Karl Koch is a professional mariner and a professional instructor. Beginning in 1968 as a Harbor Constable on Western Long Island Sound. He has served in the US Coast Guard as an Electronics Technician, Electronics Instructor, Bridge Radar Operator, and as many of you know, a rigger, installer, carpenter and fabricator here at Schrader Yacht Sales, Inc. for twenty years. What many of you may not know is that he has also, since 1983, taught professional captain's licensing courses. Over 2,000 people have earned their 6-Pack or Master's Licenses through his courses. Recently, he spent the last three years full time as the Senior Instructor for Sea School Northeast. He has navigated most of the East Coast from Plymouth to the West Indies.

Basic Seamanship—

What you need to know to avoid many of the dangers and embarrassments the new boaters often experience. We'll cover things like getting in and out of slips without looking really bad, the things not covered by the rules of the road, a few knots you can really use and how to use your radio without sounding lame.

We'll also discuss more on navigation and electronics, anchoring overnight, and more that you'll find useful as you gain experience on the water.

Course offered: 10/30, 02/13, 04/02 and 04/23

Emergency Procedures — (2 day class)

Covers flooding, distress signals, Mayday calls, Man overboard, Fire safety and fighting, heavy weather, medical emergencies, loss of power and steering failures. This covers more in depth procedures under adverse conditions
